

EFFICIENT AND EFFECTIVE DESIGNS

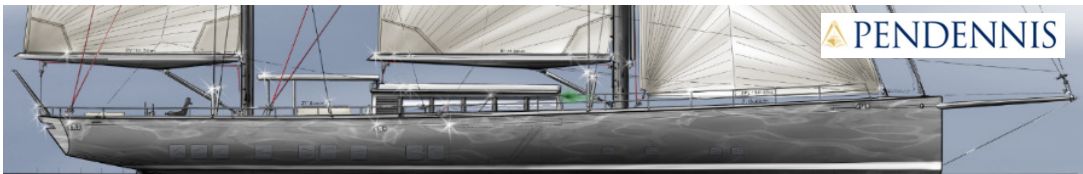

At Barracuda Yacht Design we are always mindful of the fact our designs need not only to be beautiful, but highly functional and superbly efficient at the same time. Of course efficiency is not just about creating low-drag hulls.

Whether it's about introducing more home architectural ideas within a yacht design, or sticking to a more minimalist, or more traditionalist point of view, for us it's about avoiding over-complication and unnecessary frippery as much as possible.

As naval architects first and foremost, we create designs that owners can fully appreciate, crew can live harmoniously on board and shipyards can build and maintain efficiently without extended build times and excessive materials and cost.
