Long-standing and highly accomplished naval architects and project managers, at BYD we've worked with all manner of international clients & renowned shipyards across a wide range of completed motorboat designs and awe-inspiring sailing yacht concepts.

Facing the toughest technical challenges head-on, and not just meeting, but exceeding client expectations are our two primary goals. From the ultra-contemporary, through to explorer-style boats, high-speed craft, retro-classics and anything else in-between, we are known for designing incredibly 'efficient' boats.

Not just efficient & slippery hulls through the water, but efficiency in terms of time taken to build our designs and the economies that can bring.

Efficient crew manning requirements and efficient operational, and though-life maintenance regimes and cost. Efficiency in terms of layout; symmetrical cabins, for example, and single-level social & accommodation areas that can be navigated efficiently by guests of all ages and social areas that can be serviced discreetly and efficiently by crews.
